

2023 FRONTIERS OF MSE UNDERGRADUATE SYMPOSIUM

October 6-7, 2023

The Symposium

The inaugural Frontiers of MSE Undergraduate Symposium is a two-day, all-expense paid research conference at North Carolina State University to recognize the top undergraduate researchers in materials science and engineering in the United States. Materials science and engineering researchers (and those in related fields) who are within two years of graduating are eligible to apply.

Winners

Awardees will receive an award after they present their research at October 6-7, 2023 on Centennial Campus at NC State University. Students must be present to be eligible. The event will also include information about applying to graduate school and obtaining fellowships.

Application Deadline

Applications are due by September 8, 2023. Scan the QR code or visit go.ncsu.edu/mse-ug-symposium
